

ANOTHER SCARE IN NEW RICHMOND

Heavy Storm Swept Over
The City.

CAUSED GENERAL SCURRYING
FOR SAFE PLACES.

Rain Last Night Caused Another Abandonment of the Search For Dead—Over Two Hundred Men Resumed Work on Ruins This Morning—Money, Food and Clothing
Continue to Arrive On Every Train—Burying of Dead Continued During the Day—One Hundred and Eighteen Bodies Thus Far Identified—
May Reach One Hundred and Fifty.

New Richmond, Wis., June 15.—
[Special]—Those who escaped Monday's disaster, and even the strangers in the city were given another scare last night with a heavy wind and rain storm
which swept over the city.

The wind was not sufficiently violent to create any damage but it caused a general scurrying for safe places.

The rain compelled another abandonment of the search for dead.

Over two hundred men resumed work
on the ruins this morning.

Money, food and clothing continue to arrive on every train.

The burying of the dead continues today.

There Are 112 Dead; 75 Still Missing—
New Richmond, Wis., June 15.—[Special]—The body of Martin, the village
barber, was found this morning.

According to the most reliable estimate, this makes the known dead 112
and about 75 still missing.

KNOWN DEAD AT NEW RICHMOND.

One Hundred and Eighteen Have Been Identified—Total May Reach 150.

New Richmond, Wis., June 15.—
Words can give no adequate impression of what that cyclone of Monday night did to New Richmond. Racing up Willow river and the Omaha tracks from North Wisconsin Junction, the maelstrom of the air seems to have deliberately chosen the center of New Richmond for the most fearful demonstration of its power.

Viewed from a commanding point,
the destruction is so complete, covers
so large a territory and shows itself
in so many forms, that it is difficult to believe that the force of moving air was equal alone to the accomplishment of the task. The bare tree trunks suggest a fire, and yet, not being charred, a casual observer would know that the wind had not brought with it a mass of moving fire.

Over thirty funerals were held on Wednesday. All through the day processions were passing through the town, some to the Catholic cemetery
on the west and some to the Protestant cemetery on the east. There was but one street passable from east to west, and this was a narrow, muddy thoroughfare between the ruins of buildings. There were no hearses, and the dead were carried to the grave
in grocery wagons in most cases, with a bed quilt thrown across the casket.
There are still many unburied dead
and a dozen bodies unidentified.

Two Churches Used as Morgues.

The two churches used as temporary morgues were most distressing places all day. Anxious people came to look fearfully at the dead faces and to inquire with bated breaths the names of the identified. The men who learned that dear ones were dead
usually went away quietly with tear-stained faces, but the poor bereaved
women often broke down and wept heart-brokenly. But the dead who lay unclaimed and unattended in the schoolhouse presented the most distressing spectacle.

One great trouble just now is the lack of bridges to get from one part of town to another. The iron bridge over Willow river at Main street was the only wagon bridge connecting the business section, which was wholly south of the river, with the north side,
where are all the sidetracks on both railroads. The bridge is in the river, and there is no communication between the two sections except by the Omaha railroad bridge. Until a temporary bridge can be built or side-tracks can be built on the south side of the river, all the relief cars must be stored on the north side and the provisions carried to the south side on the shoulders of men. The distance is more than half a mile.

Known Dead Number 118.

All Monday night and all day Tuesday the work of searching for victims of Monday's tornado, was continued. Half a dozen bodies have been taken from the debris.

These, with further reports from the country, raise the number of known dead at midnight to 118. A conservative estimate of the dead in New Richmond and the adjacent country brings the total up to 150. The total number of injured is placed at 250 to 300.

Property Loss About $750,000.

Little attention was paid to the property loss Tuesday. The loss of human life and the injury to human affections were so far above the mere loss of goods that the heaviest losers did not speak of the latter, yet the total loss is probably $750,000. Altogether fifty-seven business houses
and 114 residences were wrecked.

It is the literal truth that every business building in the town on the south of Willow river, and there were but very few business houses of any description north of it, was demolished. By "demolished" is meant completely overthrown, with all walls
down and only an indescribable mass
of wreckage marking the place of the edifice.

The Business Structures were Largely Substantial Brick Buildings, Generally One and Two Stories High, and the Nic- olet Hotel was Five Stories. Some of the Stores Carried Stocks that Footed up Close to $50,000. The 114 Residences Averaged at Least $1,000 Apiece in Value.

Many Governors to Attend.

Austin, Texas, June 15.—Gov. Sayers has received a letter from the Civic federation of Chicago relative to the proposed anti-trust meeting to be held in St. Louis. The letter states that the association has received assurances from the governors and attorney-generals of thirty-three states that they will be in attendance and that in addition thereto a number of mercantile agencies have requested permission to be participants in the meeting, which will be granted them.

Wire Stitching.

Berlin booksellers are strictly for-bidden to sell to school children books stitched with wire, as several cases of blood poisoning have been traced to scratches from rusty wire.

CONGRESSMAN BLAND DIED THIS MORNING

HAD BEEN UNCONSCIOUS FOR THIRTY-SIX HOURS.

Entire Family and Parents of Wife At Bedside When End Came—Funeral Will Be Held Saturday—News Received in Washington With Genuine Sorrow.

Lebanon, Mo., June 15.—[Special]—A pall of gloom was cast over this city this morning when the news of the death of Congressman Bland was announced.

His death occurred at 4:30 o'clock
this morning.

The death of the great silver leader was peaceful. He had been unconscious for thirty-two hours.

His entire family and the parents of Mrs. Bland were at the bedside when the end came.

The funeral will be held Saturday and will be attended by colleagues and

RICHARD PARKS BLAND.

friends from all sections of the country.
Bland's last words were spoken Tuesday, when he recognized his little daughter.

At midnight the family of the dead statesman realized that his end was near and everything possible was done to revive the distinguished patient but without success.

Bland was first taken ill in March, when he suffered an attack of grip, although the immediate cause of his death was cerebral congestion.

The body will lie in state tomorrow and Saturday. William J. Bryan will probably be present at the obsequies.

Congressman Richard P. Bland had acquired an enviable position in the ranks of modern politics. Although a democrat his friends were not confined to the ranks of his party, but he was admired and esteemed by all classes for his many noble traits.

He was the author of the Bland silver bill. It re-established the silver dollar containing 423 grains of troy silver as a legal tender; but its special feature was a clause requiring the treasury to purchase every month not less than two million or more than four million dollars worth of silver bullion and to coin it into dollars. His bill was passed over President Hayes' veto.

News Received in Washington.

Washington, June 15.—[Special]—
The news of the death of Congressman Bland was received here with genuine sorrow by members of both political parties.

Many messages of condolence from democrats and republicans alike were sent to Mrs. Bland.

Johnstown Center.

Johnstown Center, June 15.—Last Saturday evening, June 10, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Walker entertained a party

very pleasant evening was passed. Mrs.
M. L. Rockwell has returned from her visit at Chicago. John McGowan has gone to work at the county asylum, near Janesville. Quite a number from here will be opened for Christian Endeavor meeting. The meeting begins at 7:45.

and take part in the meeting. Mrs. A.
Pickett and Mrs. J. Thompson, of Janesville, spent a few days of last week with Mrs. Will Pember.

paralysis in her right hand last week,
but is improving very fast. Mr. and Mrs. P. H. McFarlane spent a few days of last week at Fort Atkinson. Mrs.
Jane Randall has gone to Janesville, for an indefinite length of time. Mrs. Bertha Meber spent a few days of last week at Beloit. All that was mortal of the late Peter McNea was laid to rest in the cemetery at Johnstown Center.
Wednesday afternoon, W. H. Hall was in Janesville, Tuesday. Only one more week of school. Miss Minnie Austin started Monday for an extended trip through the east. W. J. Hall is having his barn painted. How soon ere wedding bells will merrily chime?
Potato bugs have not yet put in an appearance. James Daley, of Janesville, was in town Wednesday. Mrs. Robert Hadden, of Rock Prairie, called at G. M.
Chandler's Wednesday.

New Fuel Composition.

A new fuel composition, which has received the name of "velna," has been invented in Germany. Its principal ingredients are waste products of petroleum, refuse animal fats and soda
lye. It is proposed to make up the material into briquettes, and the fuel
is said to possess gas making and calorific qualities of a high order.

DEATH OF INDIAN FORD RESIDENT

Christopher Kramer Passes Away—Social
a Success—Personal.

Indian Ford, June 15.—Christopher Kramer, an old time resident of Indian Ford, died at his home in this place Monday. Funeral services were held in the hall Tuesday afternoon. A number of people were greatly disappointed
when they arrived at the Ford and learned of the postponement of the dance
which was announced for Wednesday evening, but the ice cream social did not suffer just the same. A large crowd was present and the affair was an all around success. The proceeds amounting to $9.60, go towards buying a new organ and as all the community know how bad we need one, let everyone turn out to the next social. Mr. and Mrs.
Lackner went to Janesville last Friday.
Mrs. R. Call, of Milton Junction, is visiting friends here. Ray Yates of Janesville, is staying at C. Owens. Miss Mable Hopkins has gone to Fort Atkinson on a visit. C. Owen was in Center the latter part of last week. Miss Kate Shuman and friends went to church at Milton Junction last Sunday.

West Porter.

West Porter, June 15.—Miss Katie Watson of Janesville, spent last week with relatives here. Some of the farmers are busy picking up broken boards
of tobacco sheds, the result of our recent storms. G. W. Nichols has a new steel windmill. Miss Leo Cheesbro of Burr Oak, is visiting here this week.
Miss Ivy Tracy of the town of Fulton, spent a couple of days with friends the last of the week. Mrs. Tiernan is spending a few weeks with Mrs. G. Wixon, in the town of Fulton. A great deal of tobacco is being sent now. Mrs. Maggie Mooney closed another very successful term of school in the Eagle district last Friday, with an exhibition in the evening. The following girls had the honor of graduating: Clara Pond, Fanny Dooley, Mary Douglas and Ellie Ford. Their essays on "Home," "The New Woman,"
"Progress of Our Country," and
"Worry," respectively, were well delivered.

The Inquisitive Sultan.

The sultan of Turkey is most inquisitive as to what is said and written about him abroad. Every day translations are laid before him from the newspapers of the world, and these are all closely perused. His majesty, by the way, is a bad hand at suffering.
At one time he wanted to have an aching tooth removed, and dared not.
Eight slaves had molars drawn out in his presence that he might have an opportunity of judging the extent of suffering entailed, and finally the sultan decided that he would rather bear
the pain than undergo such an ordeal.

Epworth League Tent Located.

Indianapolis, Ind., June 15.—The executive committee of the international convention of the Epworth league decided to accept a proposition from the commissioners of this county that the big convention tent be put up in the courthouse yard.

Victoria's Finger Rings.

There are three rings which Queen Victoria never by any chance removes from her hand, and it is superfluous to add that they are closely connected with her courtship and marriage. One is a little enamel ring set with a diamond, given to her when quite a child
by Prince Albert; another is her betrothal ring, a beautiful snake of emeralds, and the third is a plain narrow band—her wedding ring.

A SCHEME FOR BETTER ROADS

Janesville Would Do Well to Adopt Same Plan.

The citizens and business men of Oconomowoc have adopted a plan that would be well for Janesville to adopt also. They are offering prizes to the country road commissioners in the hope of improving the condition of the highways leading to the city. A prize of $75 cash is to be given to the road commissioner having the best continuous piece of road extending through his district.
An additional prize of $50 is given to the commissioner having the second best. There are also prizes of $50 and $25 to be given to the two farmers having the most attractive farms. The cost of buildings is not to be considered—only the general appearance of the premises, including the condition of shade trees, fences, house, yard and barnyard, road sides, etc. No farmer will be eligible to the prizes who hauls produce or live stock on public roads in wagons having wheel tires of less than three inches in width.

EXCITEMENT BREWING

Unity of Feeling in London That the Issue Should be Forced in Transvaal Affairs.

London, June 15.—[Special]—The signs of excitement over the Transvaal situation are multiplying rapidly and there seems to be unity of feeling that an issue should be forced without unnecessary delay.

John Blumensoder.

Mike Berenz was bound over this morning on the charge of having murdered John Blumensoder in the town of Marshfield. He was held without bail.

MANY WERE DROWNED

Sunk in the Volga River—120
Lives Lost.

During a storm today, a steamer sunk
in the Volga river and one hundred and twenty were drowned.

CROUSE AT NEW RICHMOND

Janesville Boy Barely Escaped with His Life During Tornado.

Fred M. Crouse, a former well known Janesville boy, who is now visiting in the city, is home from the northern cyclone district, where he was on business
when the storm broke out.

Mr. Crouse was in New Richmond at the time of the tornado, and barely escaped with his life.

After the storm subsided all that was left of the buildings in the business district were the foundations.

Archie Reid of this city, had farm property near New Richmond that was wrecked.

A City of Champagne.

At Epernay, in France, there is a vast subterranean city, hewn out of solid chalk, flanked with piles of champagne of all blends and qualities.
There is no light in this labyrinth of streets, crossings and turnings except what the spluttering candles afford.
All is dark, dank and damp, with the temperature away down about zero.

The largest champagne manufacturers in Epernay have underground cellars which cover forty-five acres, and contain five million bottles of wine.
There is a whole street in Epernay lined with fine chateaux, the proprietors of which possess similar establishments. The whole town is honeycombed with these underground galleries for the manufacture and storage
of champagne.

Disinfecting Paper Money.

The Savings Bank in Brussels, says
the Revue Scientifique, has recently adopted a process of sterilizing all bank notes which pass through its hands. The money is exposed for several hours to the vapor of formalin.
The Revue suggests that books lent out from public libraries should be similarly treated.

A Fireman Princess.

The Princess Waldemar of Denmark has devoted herself to the welfare of the national fire brigade. She thinks that firemen are the bravest citizens, and she, does all she can to help and encourage them. She often turns up at a fire and watches the proceedings.

Largest Loaves.

The largest loaves of bread baked in the world are those of France and Italy. The "pipe" bread of Italy is baked in loaves two or three feet long,
while in France the loaves are made in the shape of very long rolls, four or five feet in length, and in many cases six feet.

Curious Offer.

A firm of English tea merchants offers to every married woman who buys
a pound of its fifty-cent tea for five consecutive weeks a pension of $250 a week in case of the death of her husband, provided he was in good health when she began to buy the tea. The pension is to continue as long as she remains a widow.

LAWTON'S SUCCESS WAS PHENOMENAL

Far Greater Than Reported
Yesterday.

FOUR THOUSAND ARE KILLED,
WOUNDED OR CAPTURED.

More Than One-Third of the Remainder

Were Scattered and Retreated South to Imus—Navy Aided Greatly On the Shore of the Bay, Landing Their Forces Occasionally—Inhabitants
Rejoice At Deliverance and Welcome
With Enthusiastic Demonstration
the Arrival of American Troops—
Prepare to Continue Attack.

Washington, June 15.—[Special]— Gen. Otis cables the following: "The success of Gen. Lawton's troops at Cavite province was greater than reported
yesterday.

"The enemy numbering over four thousand killed, wounded or captured.
More than one-third of the remainder
were much scattered and retreated south to Imus with their arsenal of five pieces of artillery, three of which were captured.

"The navy aided greatly on the shore of the bay, landing their forces occasionally. The inhabitants of that country rejoice at their deliverance and welcome with enthusiastic demonstrations
the arrival of our troops."

Lawton's Forces Are Reinforced

Manila, June 15.—[Special]—Gen.
Lawton today continued preparations to attack Imus.

His forces are reinforced by the Fourth Regulars and Wyoming Volunteers.

Prominent Filipinos friendly to the Americans have been assassinated at Cebu.

The inhabitants of that locality have urgently requested American protection
in stronger forces.

We have sent a battalion of Tennessee and two guns from Iloilo which have insured peace."

ORGANIZE SKELETON REGIMENTS.

Gen. Otis Thinks Americans Are More Desirable Than Filipinos.

Washington, June 15.—[Special]—
By order of the president, Adjutant
Gen. Corbin this morning cabled Gen.
Otis permission to organize three skeleton volunteer regiments to compose volunteers now serving in the eighth corps
who have expressed a desire to remain in the islands.

Gen. Otis informed the war department that he considered this project altogether practical and more desirable than the earlier proposition which had authorized him to recruit three skeleton regiments of Filipinos.

Gen. Otis thinks he can secure over two thousand Americans immediately
for the new regiments.

IMUS HAS BEEN EVACUATED

The Mayor Announces That Troops Left Town During Night.

Manila, June 15.—[Special]—Imus
has been evacuated.

The mayor of that place entered Las Pinas this morning and announced that the Filipino commander left the town with troops during the night. The story is declared probable.

Imus would welcome the Americans.
White flags in token of peace are displayed all along the road between Las Pinas and Imus.

Fourteen Spanish prisoners who escaped from the Filipinos last night confirm the story of the evacuation.

Gen. Lawton is extremely hopeful for the future and it is the general belief that the Cavite province is permanently subdued.

Manila, June 15.—Gen. Lawton, with Stewart's cavalry, rode to Bacoor Wednesday morning. He found that the insurgents had evacuated the place and moved toward Imus, leaving two heavy smooth-bore cannon behind them. The bay front of the church resembles a pepper box as the result of the terrific fire of the war vessels. A large quantity of ammunition was found by the Americans and destroyed

REED WAS LATE BUT PLEASED AUDIENCE

ACTOR GREETED BY FAIR SIZED CROWD.

Company Was Delayed Several Hours Enroute From Duluth By Washouts—Was 9:30 When Curtain Was Wrung Up—All Repaid For Waiting—Clever Curtain Talk.

The theatrical season closed in the Bower City last night at Myers Grand with a most worthy attraction. Roland Reed and his excellent company delighted a fair sized audience, notwithstanding the fact that Mr. Reed did not reach the city until 8:40 o'clock and it was 9:30 before the curtain was rung up. The players of Janesville appreciated the position the company was placed in, also that the attraction in store for them was one of the strongest of the season, therefore they were willing to wait patiently and they were not in the least disappointed. Although the members of the company had been on the road since Tuesday night, the effects of their long and tiresome journey were not shown and the amusing comedy, "The Wrong Mr. Wright" was not slighted in the remotest degree. A more appreciative audience has not been seen in Janesville in many a day.

The play enables Mr. Reed to be seen to the best advantage in one of the strongest roles he has yet appeared in as a star. The comedy is from the pen of George H. Broadhurst, a young writer who gives promise from his present work of being one of our most brilliant dramatists. The character which Mr. Reed portrays—Seymour Sites—is built on entirely different lines from anything in which that popular comedian has appeared for a number of years. Running through the play are several interesting underplots, and the story is told in bright, crisp dialogue. The characters are novel in construction and well carried out. Mr. Reed has surrounded himself with an exceptionally clever company, chief among whom is the charming Miss Isadore Rush, who has a novel character to portray, that of a female detective, which gives her splendid opportunities, and in which she displayed some striking gowns. Lottie Alter delighted all with her portrayal of a perfect lady, and Althea Luce played her part of the masquerading maid in a very creditable manner. Charles Wyngate as the Englishman was excellent and Julien Reed was a very busy bell-boy. Charles S. Abbe and Charles Lothian were excellent young men, and Sheridan Tupper and Mary Myers were amusing, relics of a day gone by.

There was plenty of life and energy in the play, notwithstanding the trials of the company and Mr. Reed can still lay claim to being the favorite comedian of Janesville theatre goers, who trust that in preparing his route for next season, will not forget them.

All were pleased with the performance last night.

The little curtain talk by Mr. Reed at the close of the second act was very clever indeed and struck a popular chord. His witicism was simply immense and deep, but readily grasped in the mental clutches of the intelligent audience present.

Madison, Wis., June 15—The state land commissioners have elected Assemblyman G. E. Vandercok, of Spencer, state timber agent to succeed E. G. Mr. Vandercok was appointed chief clerk in the office of the secretary of state when the Upham administration went into office six years ago. Later he was promoted to be assistant secretary of state, and held that office about three years, until the present administration went into office last winter. He represented the Spencer district in the assembly last winter.

There has been a Catholic church at Hollandtown since 1850, and the building destroyed this morning was erected in 1870 by John O'Keefe, of Appleton.

The business men have raised $1,500 and they expect to throw it to the birds on the one day and give everybody a good time. George D. #### FOR PHOTOGRAPHIC LIES.

Damages Demanded by Royalist Woman of France.

A woman is like a boomerang. One never knows how she will reach. Le Siecle of Paris recently published an "illustrated supplement," which it called "Photographic Lie," the underlying idea being to show how the recent photographic evidence introduced against Colonel Picquart had no value, but could be manufactured by an ordinary photographic expert. It published about a dozen of these made-up photographs, most of them representing persons who nourished a lively hatred for each other, in the act of embracing fraternally, patting each other's backs or smiling longingly in each other's eyes. The Duchess D'Uzes was represented with a hand resting affectionately on the shoulder of Arthur Meyer, editor of the Gaulois, a man whom she has plenty of reason to thoroughly detest. The duchess did not wait to see more than one side of the matter. She "felt that her innermost feelings had been outraged," and, hurrying to Paris from her country residence, she immediately notified her lawyers to institute proceedings against Mr. Guyot for defamation, the damage of 50,000 francs, if granted, to be given to a certain charitable institution in which Mme. D'Uzes is interested. The joy of the "breezy duchess," as she is called, at finding at last a chance to sue a Dreyfusard for damages has overleaped all bounds, and she is seriously harming her case by talking so much about that side of it. She is called the richest woman in France. She is also one of the noblest in point of blood. After the death of her husband, the statesman, in 1878, she did all in her power to further the cause of the monarchy. She is said to have given the Boulangists 3,000,000 francs. She gives very largely to charity.

China's Lightning Messengers.

Human endurance is seldom so severely tested as among the postal members of the Chinese government between Peking and Lhasa. These messengers are picked and trained men, who in times of great urgency are required to cover the 4,500 miles between the two capitals in thirty-six days. This is at the rate of 125 miles a day, and the journey is performed on horseback, changes being made every few miles. The messenger's letters, inclosed in a yellow bag, are never taken off his back except when he changes his dress, which he does once a week. He eats and sleeps at the postal stations, and is under the most rigid restrictions as to articles of diet, and is permitted to sleep only four hours a day.

Genesis of the Newspaper.

The first news sheets at all answering to our modern newspaper were issued by order of the Venetian government about 1536. At first they were simply written out and exhibited to public inspection on payment of a small coin called a "gazetta," whence the modern term "Gazette." Afterward the demand made it necessary to print them. The first English newspaper of which we have positive evidence was the Weekly News, published by Nathaniel Butler in 1622. The English Mercurie of 1588 is a forgery. It was really printed about the middle of the eighteenth century.

Cheap washing soaps and powders, too, With alkali are strong; The dirt destruction which they do Is sure to show ere long. But Ivory Soap will never hurt The fabric, howe'er tender; It makes short work of stain and dirt, But no work for the mender.

Michigan Near Single Tax.

Lansing, Mich., June 15.—Application of the single tax to Michigan cities escaped enactment by the Michigan legislature today by one vote. A bill providing for submission to the people of any city of the proposition to assess city taxes upon the land values, upon petition of 20 per cent of the taxpayers of the city, which had passed the senate, was defeated in the house by a vote of 50 yeas to 41 nays, 51 being a majority of the members elect. It is understood Gov. Pingree would have signed the bill had it been passed.

School Building Is Burned.

Mount Pleasant, Mich., June 15.—The building of the Indian school was discovered to be on fire Wednesday afternoon, and those in charge were powerless, as they had no water with which to fight the flames. The fire is supposed to have been started from defective insulation. The building is in ruins and the loss is placed at $40,000.

Strike Riot in Cleveland.

Cleveland, Ohio, June 15.—The strike situation in Cleveland Wednesday again developed into a riot, in which a non-union motorman was seriously hurt. Aside from this the situation is the same as it was Tuesday. The riot occurred at noon. It lasted fully an hour. The police for a time were powerless to cope with the mob.

Powder Explosion at Peking.

Shanghai, June 15.—Word has been received here from Peking that the Manchu powder magazine, located in the western part of the city, has been blown up by an explosion. It is believed that 200 persons have been killed and wounded, and the scenes in the vicinity of the disaster are heart-rending.

Grain-O Brings Relief

to the coffee drinker. Coffee drinking is a habit that is universally indulged in and almost invariably injurious. Have you tried Grain-O? It is almost like coffee, but the effects are just the opposite. Coffee upsets the stomach and ruins the digestion, effects the heart and disturbs the whole nervous system. Grain-O cleanses the stomach, aids digestion and strengthens the nerves. There is nothing but nourishment in Grain-O. It can't be otherwise. 15 and 25c per package.

THIS DAY IN HISTORY.

1215—Magna Charta signed by King John.
1782—Franklin drew electricity from the clouds.
Franklin's discovery of the identity of lightning with electricity was due to long and patient study of the subject. He projected lightning rods first and to prove his theory sent a kite into the clouds. Other scientists, acting on Franklin's data and instructions, had obtained electrical sparks from tall iron rods and elevated Leyden jars. His lightning rod was put to the test a year later.
1773—George Washington took command of the American army.
1840—James Knox Polk, eleventh president, died; born 1795.
1871—Confederate naval officer, died at Savannah; born 1795.
1883—Frederick III, emperor of Germany and king of Prussia, died; born 1832.
1892—A tornado killed 60 people in Minnesota.

STANDING BY HIS GUNS.
Evening Wisconsin: President McKinley has shown what he thinks of the caliber of the criticisms of his recent civil service order by carrying the principle of that order a little further. Yesterday he approved an amendment to rule 6 of the regulations, excepting from examination one assistant postmaster at each postoffice. The president, being sure he is right, is not afraid to go ahead. It has been a favorite saying of doctrinaire civil service reformers that subordinates in public offices should be selected in the same way as a merchant would select clerks to assist him in his private business. This rule is not bad, but solecisms have developed in its application. No merchant would submit to select all his employees from a list prepared by a board of school-masters. He would think more of his own judgment of a man's ability than of a testimonial thereto based solely upon a high rating in a scholastic examination. Besides, he would insist that confidential positions especially can be satisfactorily filled only by men who possess the personal confidence of their principals. No civil service examination rating gives conclusive evidence of the integrity or the practical judgment of a candidate for appointment, or guarantees that he will work harmoniously with the man who is to be his chief. The president's order puts the public service upon a footing more clearly akin to that which governs private business than it was on before. It establishes a practical reform that was needed in the interest of the people. It is commended by civil service reformers who are not deluded visionaries or mugwumpian critics of President McKinley.

REPUBLICAN EXPENSES.
The Chicago Times-Herald thinks that Judge Tully "ought to get some one to edit his financial estimates with a decimal point," saying:
When Judge Murray F. Tully, for whom The Times-Herald cherishes the highest regard, puts aside his judicial mind and lets his political fancy rove he becomes one of the most diverting polemics that ever revealed in the figures and invectives of an argument. In his use of figures he reminds us of a local judge who confessed that when he got beyond his first million all other millions and billions conveyed no specific notion to his mind. In a word they are all the same to him.
Here is a specimen of the judge's absolute disregard of the meaning of figures. In discussing the cost of the republican presidential campaign of 1896, he said:
After McKinley's nomination Mark Hanna engineered his collection and raised the largest campaign fund ever known in the United States, amounting, it is believed, to over $50,000,000.
By whom is this preposterous story of a $50,000,000 campaign fund believed?
As a matter of fact, the total disbursements of the national republican campaign committee in 1896 were less than $2,000,000. Of this just under one million was expended in printing and postage. It was a campaign of literature. But $1,000,000 will print and distribute literature by the ton.
The balance of the fund was paid out for clerk hire, for stump speakers and for balls and traveling expenses.
The apocryphal $50,000,000, which Judge Tully might as well have made $500,000,000 without straining his imagination, would have paid for at least seventeen such campaigns as that of 1896.

Metals Become Tired.
Metals get tired as well as living beings. Telegraph wires are better conductors on Monday than on Saturday, on account of their Sunday rest, and a rest of three weeks added 10 per cent to the conductivity of a wire.
Fig on Cowcatcher.
A locomotive on a Georgia railroad picked up a pig on its cowcatcher and carried it six miles without hurting it.

since the beginning of hostilities last February.
The next big battle is expected at Imus, which the native warriors are fortifying, and where desperate resistance is expected. With the capture of Imus the Americans will control all the country south of Cavite.
The fighting since the column left Manila has been unusually severe and the troops will be given a brief respite from active work, pending the final attack.

Otis Says Ten Were Killed.
Washington, June 15.—The following was received Wednesday at the war department:
"Manila, June 14.—Adjutant-General, Washington: Lawton's troops, under Wheaton and Owenshine, occupy country south to Bacoor, have scouted westward and some distance southward on line Zapote river and Bacoor road; enemy appears to have retired on Imus, abandoning bay country.
"The fighting yesterday severe; our loss ten killed and forty wounded; majority at crossing Zapote river.
"Enemy driven from heavy and well constructed intrenchments, to which they held tenaciously; their loss several hundred, of whom fifty were buried this morning. Will not probably make any determined future stand in southern provinces. OTIS."

WILL HURRY TROOPS TO GEN. OTIS
Five Thousand Artillery and Cavalrymen to Be Sent to Manila.
Washington, June 15.—The officials of the war department held a conference Wednesday, at which it was decided further to reduce the force of regular troops in the United States in order that Gen. Otis may be furnished 5,000 additional men to bring his forces to 35,000. One of the regiments serving in Porto Rico may be withdrawn, and if this is done it will be necessary to raise only 4,000 in the United States.
The troops to be selected from the United States will be entirely composed of cavalry and artillery. There is only one full regiment of infantry remaining in this country, and it is deemed unwise to order any portion of this regiment out of the United States. There are, however, about 15,000 artillerymen and cavalrymen, and some of them could be spared without impairing the service to any considerable extent.

Think Otis Made a Mistake.
Paris, June 15.—Public opinion here is again interested in affairs in the Philippines, and a most pessimistic view is taken. It is considered that Gen. Otis made a mistake in asking such hard terms of Aguinaldo, who pretended to negotiate when he was only waiting for the rainy season. It is generally believed here that the American situation is much worse than the censored telegrams from Manila represent.
Monster Lake of Beer.
The beer which is consumed throughout the world in a single year would make a lake 6 feet deep, 3 1/2 miles long, a mile wide, or 2,819 acres in area. In this vast lake of beer we could easily drown all the English-speaking people, to the number of 120,000,000, throughout the entire world; or we could give a beer bath to every man, woman and child at the same time in the entire continent of America, while all the people of England, Scotland, Ireland and France could find standing room on its bed.

Remarkable Surgical Case.
Kansas can add to the surgical records another instance of a person who has recovered after being shot through the brain. Three months ago Miss Mattie Stone of Crawford county fired a bullet into her head with suicidal intent. Last week the surgeons lifted her skull and removed the bullet, which had passed through one lobe of the brain. She will recover.
Demand for Champagne.
The total demand of the world for champagne is about 20,000,000 annually, a demand which can be readily met for some years to come from the supplies held in stock in the vast cool cellars at Rheims, where one noted firm alone keeps a standing reserve of 9,000,000 bottles.

Production of Coffee Increasing.
The production of coffee is said to be increasing rapidly in South America and to be assuming large proportions in Central Africa. In the Rio district alone the augmented output for the four years ending 1897 was equal to 4,000,000 sacks, or about 240,000 tons.

A force fully equal to 473,000,000 horse-power was estimated as developed in a West Indian cyclone. This is about fifteen times the power that is creatable by all the means within the range of man's capabilities during the same time. Were steam, water, wind-mills and the strength of all men and all animals combined, they could not at all approach the tremendous force exerted by this terrible storm.

The saying is an old one but nevertheless a true one, "the best is always the cheapest." It has been proven true in bicycles to a very great extent. ## LABOR DELEGATES FINISH THEIR WORK

INTERESTING SESSION HELD DURING THE DAY.

Organizer Weber's Report Was a Lengthy One and Embraced Many Important Subjects—Trusts Are Called to Time—Have Had Most Profitable Meeting Here.

Delegates to the annual meeting of the State Federation of Labor which has been in session here during the past three days, finished their work this afternoon.

At 3:30 o'clock the following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

Secretary and Treasurer—Martin Jesko, Racine.

General Organizer—F. J. Weber, Milwaukee.

Executive Board—Paul Huebner, Milwaukee; F. C. Weiss, Sheboygan; Frank Kitz, Oshkosh; Henry Fuhry, Milwaukee.

The council will meet next year at Sheboygan.

Frank J. Weber, general organizer, in speaking of child labor says:

"The time has come when the Wisconsin Federation of Labor should take an active stand and place on its banner 'No child labor.' We find thousands of children working for a pittance at a time when they should be at school or on the play ground." Mr. Weber said: "The organized wage worker does not want strikes, they are not of his seeking, but being in he bears himself that the employer may beware of him. The trade unionist thus forced to this issue, and taking up the gauntlet, is espousing a holy cause and battling for human rights."

To Prepare Laws

After receiving the work of the legislative committee during the past year, which secured the passage of eleven out of fifteen labor laws that were recommended, Mr. Weber recommended that the incoming legislative committee prepare the following laws for presentation to the legislature:

1. On scaffolding buildings.
2. The eight hour work day for all public works, state and municipal.
3. Convict labor.
4. Liabilities of employees.
5. The truck store system.
6. That all wages be paid in the lawful money of the United States. Making it a criminal offense to be violated.

Court Injunctions and Trusts

He also spoke of the tyranny of court injunctions, and speaking of trusts as the development of our competitive system, said: "Trusts are capitalistic unions which required a struggle of more than three hundred years to develop the power that they have today. Powerful trade unions, composed of intelligent men, is the weapon that will destroy trusts—not destroy them but put them in the hands of the people. The wage earners through all the ages have found that their worst enemies are the middlemen. The middleman believes that he is of finer clay than the wage worker. To force him into the ranks of labor should be the duty of trade unionists. The army of labor would thereby gain a new recruit, while those of capital would lose one. When that time arrives the middleman will no longer be the protector of trusts. Then and not till then will the trusts be turned into the right channels and become the property of the people."

How the Federation Has Grown.

Martin Jesko, secretary of the State Federation, reported that thirty five certificates of affiliation had been issued to unions during the past year, two to central bodies and thirty-two to local unions. In Racine ten new unions had been organized and four were affiliated with the State Federation of Labor. A Building Trades council had been organized at Oshkosh. At Kenosha four local unions had been organized and three were affiliated with the federation. In Milwaukee twelve unions were organized. At Waukesha three have been organized and the organization of three more is under way. At South Milwaukee one has been organized and also one at Madison. From Nov. 15, 1893, to April 15, 1899, through the efforts of organized labor, 482 children have been taken out of factories in this state. Of this number twenty-four were granted permits to go to work for various reasons.

The report of the executive board spoke hopefully of the labor situation, and expressed the opinion that the condition and outlook for the various trades unions in the state was never brighter.

The following delegates were in attendance at the meeting:

John Qualmann—Carriage and Wagonworkers Local No. 25, of Milwaukee.

Charles Tenney—Coopers No. 35, Milwaukee.

WEARING OUT LOVE.

Forgive you? Oh, of course, dear,
A dozen times a week!
We women were created
Forgiveness but to speak.

You'd die before you'd hurt me Intentionally? * * * True.
But it is not, O dearest,
The thing you mean to do—

It's what you do, unthinking,
That makes the quick tear start;
The tear may be forgotten,
But the hurt stays in the heart.

And though I may forgive you
A dozen times a day,
Yet each forgiveness wears, dear,
A little love away.

As the impatient river
Wears out the patient sand
Or as the fickle ocean
Wears out the faithful land.

And one day you'll be grieving
And chiding me no doubt,
Because so much forgiving
Has worn a great love out.

—Ella Higginson in Detroit Free Press.

A SHIP

That Rose From the Sea.

A SAILOR'S YARN.

"You landlappers write harrowing tales of the ships that sink in the sea. But did you ever hear of a sunken ship that came back from Davy Jones' locker?" said one of the veteran sea dogs at the Sailors' Saug Harbor, at Staten Island, near New York, to a visitor. "I saw one come back," he went on in a lower tone.

"I have seen ships go down. I have been in many wrecks and have seen my full share of all the strange sights of the sea, but no other sight ever made my blood run so cold nor my heart sink so low as the sight of a great ship rising to the surface through a thousand fathoms of water, with a crew of dead men between her decks. It happened back in the fifties, when I was able seaman on the Mary Clay, a brig trading to South American ports. We were coming up from Rio, I think it was, with a cargo of hides and coffee, and a long spell of storms and contrary winds drove us far out of our course and off to the east in the Atlantic. Our main and top masts had all gone by the board long before the storms ended.

"When the weather cleared finally and the waves went down, we were on the edge of the Sargasso sea. The green surface of that ocean graveyard was torn and broken by the storm as far as we could see, and great piles and patches of torn seaweed were floating all around us. There came a day of calm and sunshine after two weeks of storm, and all hands were set to work fixing up a jury rig, with which we finally reached port. We had a bit of canvas spread forward and another aft on poles, just enough to give us steering way while we worked. A current and a light wind from the south helped a bit, and we were slowly drawing away from that sea of greivous green.

"There was a long, heavy under swell, waves seeming to come up from the very bottom as if the storm through which we had passed had stirred the ocean to its uttermost depths. Joe Dill, the first mate, and I were at work by the rail on the starboard side forward at 10 o'clock in the morning. 'What's that?' said Joe as he caught my arm and pointed to a disturbance in the water some 200 yards off our bow.

"I looked at the spot indicated. Beyond a heap of broken weed from the Sargasso that was drifting along beside us there was a big patch of fairly clear water. As I looked huge bubbles appeared on the surface, and then a great mound of green water and greener weed seemed to rise 50 feet above the surface. As this mound of weed and water rolled away to the level of the surrounding sea there broke from the spot where we had seen the bubbles the broken masts of what had been a full rigged ship.

"Dill shouted some warning to the captain, but he did not move out of his tracks. We stood there as if chained to the deck, and saw the hull of a big ship rise out of that sea as slowly and majestically as a giant whale undisturbed might come to the surface to blow. She came up on an even keel and rose until her upper deck was clear of the water and floated there, rolling slowly with the even roll of the sea that had cast her up. We could see that the vessel had foundered in a storm. Her masts were all broken off as if she had been caught unprepared in a sudden squall, and the spars and rigging were twisted and piled upon the deck and hanging over the rail as if the crew had been unable to cut them away.

"We could see that the risen ship had been long under water. Barnacles hung from her rails and the broken timbers above deck were covered with the dark green slimy weed that is found only at a great depth. It was easy enough to guess how she had gone down. Caught in a sudden squall, she had strained her framework and broken a rent somewhere below the water line that sent her to the bottom, probably before the crew had time to man a boat. But how had she come to the surface?

"Officers and crew of the Mary Clay ran to the starboard rail and looked at the derelict that had come up from below with staring eyes and blanched faces. No man of us had ever heard of such a thing before, and we were so close to the wreck that there was no chance that we were mistaken. The ship was not a derelict that had been floating with decks awash. She had not been concealed from our view by floating seaweed. The vessel had risen to the surface in a big patch of clear water and half the crew of the Mary Clay had seen her come up.

For a time we were so startled by what we had seen that no man made a move to do anything. Then the captain recovered his nerve and called for volunteers to board the strange craft and see what we could learn about her. At first the men drew back. There was something so uncanny about the stranger that they wanted to get away as fast as possible. Finally a boat crew, led by the first mate, volunteered, and we went over and boarded the sudden and mysteriously arisen derelict. We slipped on the 'thick green slime that covered the deck as we climbed over the rail, and the pale faces of the men showed that they had no heart in the work we had undertaken to do.

"A hasty glance about the deck showed that everything was gone by the board except the broken spars and torn rigging that hung to the stumps of the masts. The boats were all gone. The wheelhouse was stove in, and the captain's cabin had been crushed by falling spars. With an oar from our boat we scraped among some of the seaweed and slime and found that the batches had all been battened down. We found the main gangway covered with a dense heap of seaweed, in which there were scores of crabs and strange looking dwellers in the depths of the southern seas. With much labor we cleared away this mass of stuff and reached the head of the ladder leading down from the main deck. Dill, the mate, looked down into the dark water that rose almost to the top of the gangway, and then he sprang back with a cry of horror.

"A sudden roll of the ship on a deep swell churned the water between decks and the bloated body of a dead sailor was thrown up the ladder and so wedged in the passageway that the face stared straight up at us. The flesh was soft and white, as if ready to drop from the bones, and the eyes had already fallen out. The hideous face seemed to mock at us with a ghastly leer.

"With one accord we all started back toward the stern of the vessel, where our boat was tied to the rail. Before we reached the boat, there came another heavy swell, the ship lurched to starboard and as she rolled back to an even keel something in her framework below decks broke with a muffled crash. Then a small fountain of black water, capped by yellow bubbles, broke from the open gangway and a great quantity of gas that had been confined below shot high up into the air with a report like escaping steam.

"With this eruption from the depths of the ship there came an odor of decaying flesh so strong and sickening that we fell into our boat, almost overcome. The line was cut and we pushed away as quickly as possible. Most of us were so overcome that we were unable to handle the oars, but, fortunately, another roll on a sunken wave carried the ship away from us and we were clear of the horrible odor. The roar of escaping gas continued for several minutes, and then the broken and battered derelict settled stern first and sank swiftly out of sight.

"The Mary Clay reached home in time and on our next trip to South America we found a possible solution of the remarkable incident of a ship rising from the sea. A British vessel loaded with live stock for Brazil had been lost some months before, probably near the Sargasso sea. If the ship settled on an even keel at the bottom, sand and seaweed might have closed the rent in her hull that caused her to sink. Then, with the hatches battened down above, the decomposition of the bodies of the animals that had formed the cargo would create enough gas between decks in time to cause the vessel to rise to the surface. When we cleared the gangway the gas escaped and the broken vessel went to the bottom a second time." —New York Cor. St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

PASTE DIAMONDS.

Worn by Owners of Valuable Gems for Various Reasons.

New Orleans Times-Democrat: According to an expert goldsmith, the practice of wearing fake replicas of valuable diamonds is considerably more common than one would suppose. It is usually done by people who are in temporary straits and wish to borrow a little money on their jewelry without exciting suspicion by its absence. Of course, such a thing as a paste diamond that would stand even the briefest scrutiny of an expert does not exist outside the pages of romance, but those who are known as the owners of handsome gems can wear an imitation with a good deal of impunity. It never occurs to any of their friends that the familiar stone may be a substitute, and it is passed with at most a casual glance. It is said that a number of these doubles exist in New Orleans. They must be specially mounted to pass muster, and the job, when properly done, is far from easy. Some years ago a local jeweler was commissioned to make a paste duplicate of a lady's bracelet. It was a narrow hoop of gold set with 10 perfectly matched brilliants weighing about two carats each, and alternated with a similar number of very handsome emeralds. There was no telling exactly what the trinket was worth, for the value of such things is largely arbitrary when they are titled to be classed as unique, but it ran some distance into the thousands. The setting of the stones, which was of the style known technically as "gypsy"—that is to say, flush the metal—made them rather easy to imitate, but when the work was partly done, the jeweler grew suspicious that it was intended for some improper purpose and refused to proceed without an explanation. The man who gave the order, who was a stranger in the city, pocketed the original and disappeared in some agitation. He was never seen again, and there is doubtless a queer story behind the episode. The half finished bracelet is still in the jeweler's safe.
